SPONSORSHIP PACKAGES

Crypto is one of the premier cryptography conferences organized annually by the International Association of Cryptologic Research (IACR), and the original flagship conference. It is attended by the top cryptographers in academia and industry from all over the world.

We expect an exciting lineup of cryptographic results that will have impact on a broad range of participants.

Sponsorship help ensure student participation, as well as support diversity, equity, and inclusion for the conference participants.

Any amount of sponsorship would be greatly appreciated and your company's logo will be included on all event signage and conference websites. We also offer multiple sponsorship packages.

Thank you!

The IACR is a non-profit organization and the expenses for all IACR conferences are paid for by registration fees and sponsorships from institutions such as your company. For past editions of the conference, sponsors have used the opportunity to advertise, recruit, network, or to simply support the progress in the field.
